You Are Enya's Cat

You open your eyes and something feels...off. How long have you been sleeping? Even for a cat, it feels late in the morning. Your stomach grumbles. You look to the clock...!! What's happening in this house? You hear soft chanting and slow synth washes coming from under the door to your owner's studio. Oh, great, the new album is underway. Will the cats ever be fed again? Surely there's something that can be done. On the stairs, your furry companions await your next move.

In the kitchen, the food sits, canned and ignored.
